

JOB OFFER

Project manager at the Optics Laboratory, Murcia University, Spain

The Laboratorio de Optica de la Universidad de Murcia (LO·UM), directed by professor Pablo Artal, and one of the world leaders research groups in Visual and Biomedical Optics, is seeking a Research Project Manager.

The selected candidate will be involved, among others, in the following tasks in close collaboration with staff of Murcia University:

- Financial and administrative management of the projects.
- Help in the preparation of project's reports.
- Human resource management of the lab.
- Organization of material purchases.
- Dissemination and outreach of laboratory activities.
- Intellectual property management.

Required qualifications and experience:

- University degree.
- Previous work experience in research project management, desirable in EU projects.
- English and Spanish.

Desired personal attributes:

- Interest in science, technology and impact in society.
- Strong communication and organizational skills.
- Team Player and ability to work independently.

Job conditions:

- Salary will be within the University of Murcia scale, including social security and institutional benefits.

Information on the research activities of the LO·UM can be obtained through the web page: <http://lo.um.es>; and on Murcia (Murcia is the Region capital city located in the south-est of Spain, 40 km from the Mediterranean Sea) from the University of Murcia web page: <http://www.um.es/english/general-inf.php>. The weather in Murcia is good year round and the area offers plenty of outdoor and cultural recreations opportunities.

Interested candidates should submit the application electronically, including cover letter, CV and list of references to Prof. Pablo Artal (pablo@um.es), indicating in the subject the reference: project manager.

The search for adequate candidates will be open until the position is filled.
